

webMethods.io Integration

Achieve Freedom to Scale and Innovate Through Rapid Cloud Integration

As a long-standing Software AG partner, Kellton Tech helps enterprises enable consolidated models of work based on webMethods.io integration and gain scalability needed to innovate and meet future growth. We provide a comprehensive range of services to support the full integration lifecycle iteratively—helping businesses derive measurable impact and remain poised for the next wave of disruption.

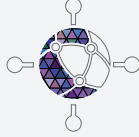

The webMethods.io Integration Platform from Software AG brings a combination of capabilities that simplifies integration between on-premise and cloud applications to make business processes more visible, efficient, and agile. With webMethods.io, industry's first Node.js-based Integration Platform as a Service (iPaaS), enterprises can solve operational challenges arising out of fragmented SaaS landscapes and eliminate integration silos to redefine models of efficiency and decision-making.
